Chestnut Street-Public Entrance

Queen Street-Binns Park Employees Entrance

Arriving

On Foot / By Bicycle: A bicycle rack is located on the Binns Park side of the tower and a small indoor storage area is located inside the Chestnut Street entrance, to the left of security.

RTTA: Most city bus routes stop at the public entrance. To check a specific route, go to: <https://www.redrosetransit.com/>

By Car: Metered on-street parking is available on Prince St., Chestnut St., and Queen St. Pay at the nearest kiosk. Nearby garages include the Prince Street Garage (Prince and Orange), RRTA Queen Street Station Garage (Queen and Chestnut), and Duke Street Garage (Duke and Chestnut). Note: Although Level 3 of the Prince Street Garage opens into Binns Park, there is a security door which is only accessible to those holding a monthly parking pass. The Prince Street or Orange Street exit must be used to walk around to the tower entrance on Chestnut Street.

Entering the Building

Public Entrance : The public must use the Chestnut Street entrance to the building. Binns Park entrances are only for employees.

Security : Go through security, where you'll be asked to put your bags on the belt, and everything in your pockets (including wallets) into bowls. These items will be scanned, and you'll walk through a metal detector and / or be wanded. Security personnel can assist you with directions.

Finding your Way

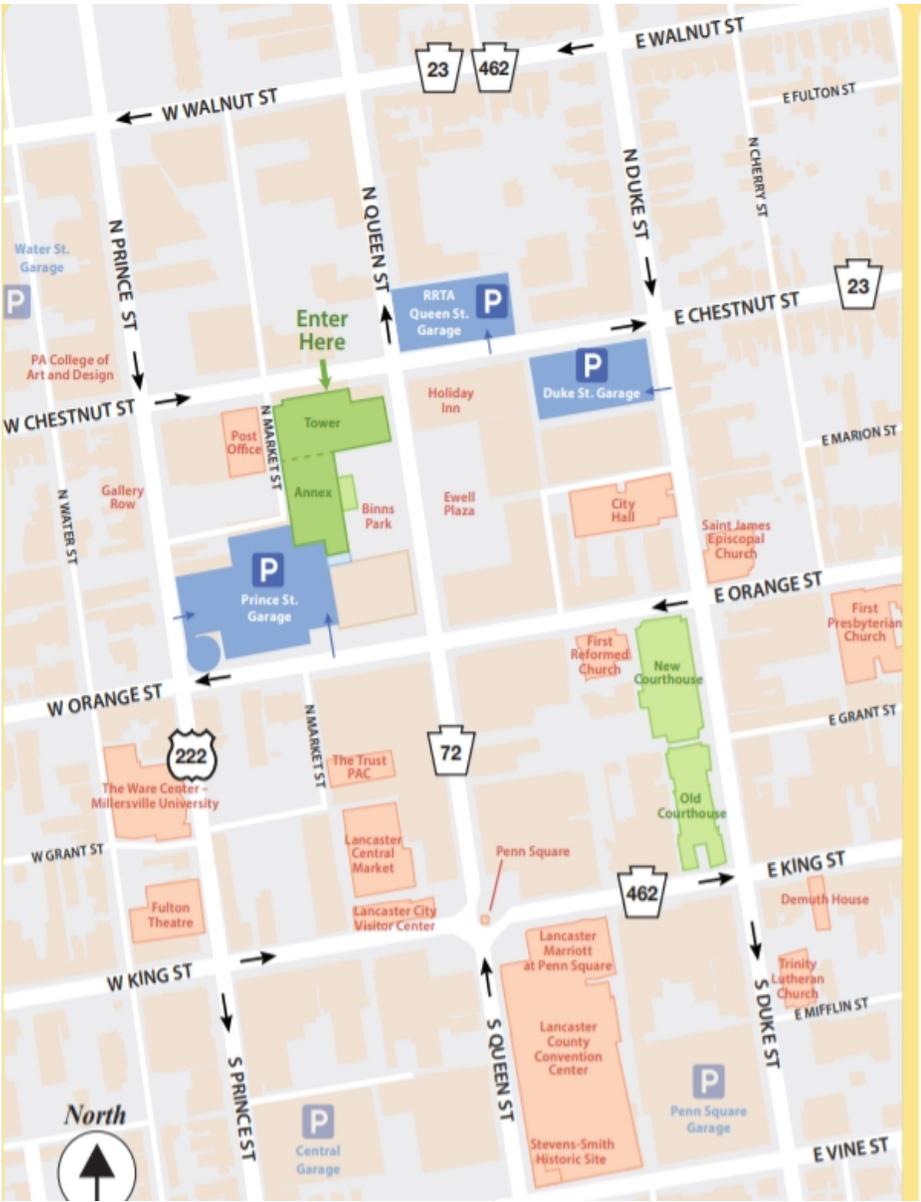

The building has two sections: A 7-story tower facing Chestnut Street and a 3-story annex facing Binns Park (Queen St). The public entrance to the building is in the tower.
